The winner, seneral McClellan, was the favorite previous to the start at about one hun dred to eighty, although large amounts had been wag red even a short time previously. The backers of the mare seemed very anxious to get their miney invested, and large amounts were staked on the race. Very little was known of the mare by the crowd further than that she large amounts were staked on the race. Very little was known of the mare by the crowd further than that she trotted on the Fashion Course on the 4th of July, and won a beat in 2 35½ with great case, while rumers were plentiful that she had been down in the twenties in private trials. Still, McClellan had hosts of backers. The great reliability and steadiness exhibited by him in his previous trots, twether with his having Hiram Woodruff to gaide him, gave him the call, and his friends were ready to take no almost any wager offered.

First Heat.—The mare won the pole, but before she had goed two hundred yards McClellan had taken it from her. The gelding led by the quarter pole four longths in thirty-eight secon is. McClellan thou broke up, but caucht as un before the mare had overtaken him. Going down the backstretch the mare had overtaken him. Going down the backstretch the mare had eavery bad break, loning about 3 ty yards. McClellan passed the half mile pole in 115, and a much wider gap being opened on the lower turn by another break of the mare, several offers were made that the would be distanced. She, however, trotted very fast up the homestretch; and Hiram, seeing that he could not shu ther out, took his horse in hand, and came to the searce on a jog, half a dozen lengths ahead, making the heat in 2.33.

Second Heat.—The horses came up as the top of their sheed, and got the word with their heads parallel, but before they were around the first turn the mare broke up and lost aix or eight lengths before she recovered. McClellan keep to littly aline seconds, and to the half mile pole in 1:17. In going down the backstretch the mare trotted very fast, closing up to within a capic of lengths of the golding, and offers were made that she would wit the heat, but she could not get any closer. McClellan had something to spare, and he kept the daylight between them all around the lower turn and up the homestretch to the score, winning by a length and a half. Time 2:33.

Yesterday the second eleven of the above clubs played quite an interesting match on the grounds of the New York Club, Hoboken, which terminated, after a well con-tested game, in favor of the New Yorkers with six Shiner obtained 22 in good style. W. Davis' 19 and Dr. Collamore's 11 were well gotten. The innings closed for 72 runs, against which the New York players made 89 runs, the principal scores being those of Beech and Parkins.

A substantial repeat was provided by the members of the New York Club for their guests and friends, which passed off in a most pleasant and affable manner. In the second innings the floatonians obtained only fifty-eight runs, Sullivan being the highest scorer, leaving the New Yorkers fifty-one to win, which they accomplished with the loss of four wickets. Thus ended the first game with the Massachusetts players. The most prominent admirers of the game present were Messrs. Crockett, Draper, Lamb and Dr. Collimore, of Boston, as well as numerous members of the Philadelphia and other neighboring clubs. Mr. H. P. Parkins, of Lowell, who is one of the most ardent admirers of cricket in Massachusetts, has not put in an appearance, but it is sincerely hoped by the cricketers of both States that he will be on hand before the week is over. To-day and Wednesday the first eleven of the Boston Club will play a match with the St. George Club of this city, and on Thorsday and Friday next the New York first eleven will compete against eleven selected from all Mas This will be quite again sime with cricketers mainder of the week, and yeaterday was an initiation. On the merning of the 5th inst. he left his home at Hridge-port, Connecticut, it transact some business in New York, which he thought would detain him some days; but unfortunately concluded to return to his home the same evaning. It was the usual habit of his lamily to sond his carriace on his expected arrival. He, not thinking it would be there, executed to go on foot, the distance being but short. On arriving at a bridge he had to cross, and leoling somewhat fatigued, he rested against a railing, which gave way, and he was precipitated some twenty test on to rocks left day at low tide, and instanty killed, where he remained till the following morning.
